

Michael Buna

Ms. Britt

9th Grade Humanities

September 12, 2016

At this Moment, I Am...

At this moment, I don't fully know my potential. I don't know my use. Right now I am nothing but a kid doing nothing useful in his life other than make friends. Some people start off with more, some start with less. I think we were all destined to do something impactful on someone else's life or impactful to the world. Many people claim that they know their purpose and claim that they love every second of it. Lies. No one can love every second of something. Everyone hates something in their life.

We may not know it but we have potential to do great things in this world. We can all impact the world in great ways. I can't; Making an impact on the world isn't the easiest thing to do. You will get criticism. We are still young, we say we know what we want to be and we know what our potential is. We really don't though. We constantly lie to ourselves to think we are respected, we are popular.

We need to realize it doesn't take 5 minutes to make our life goals. It doesn't take us 10 minutes to plan out our future. We need to think long and hard about these topics. We will all find our purpose. I'm sure we will. I guess mine would be to entertain people. That's just a guess, I don't know what my use in this world is. I'm sure we will... Hopefully we will. Hopefully we all will.